INTERIORS Europe & the Americas II

A privileged residential world created by gifted architects, interior designers, artists and other creative individuals for uncompromising clients opens its doors in the pages of Interiors of Europe & the Americas. The premise behind these exclusive domiciles is daringly simple: commission top design talent to serve clients who want environments tailored to their exact requirements, and employ the finest materials, furnishings and craftsmanship to achieve one-of-a-kind results. The homes are traditional and modern, large and small, urban and rural, but they are all unmistakably beautiful, original and as individual in character as their designers and clients.

Photographed in ravishing color by award-winning photographer Gianni Franchellucci with a lively narrative from noted journalist and author Roberto Beghini, the featured interiors are the work of distinguished architects, interior designers and other creative individuals in Europe, North America, and South America. Each residence is captured in both sweeping vistas and intimate details. The images constitute rare private tours that take readers on breathtaking journeys to Paris, Montevideo, Philadelphia, Rome, San Francisco, Houston, Malibu, Berlin, New York, Buenos Aires and other far-flung destinations.

Interiors of Europe & the Americas II has been produced to the same standards as the residences it portrays. Assembling over 500 color plates on 272 pages and printed on heavy, 9.25" x 11.7" paper, this is a book to be treasured and enjoyed by readers with a passion for architecture, design and the good life.
